TAFT AGAINST UNJUST ENMITY

Says that Much Business Success Is Deserved.

TRUSTS MUST OBEY THE LAW

President Advocates Prevention of Abuse of Monopoly and Undue Advantage, but No Opposition to Prosperity Per Se.

Waterloo, Ia., Sept. 29.—President Taft faced the middle west with an appeal to check unjust prejudice against the business enterprises of the country.

In an address on the relation of the government to business of the country, which he delivered here before an outdoor audience of several thousand people, the president said that the people of every section and class of the country were all in the same boat and that to persist in sectional vindictiveness against the prosperity of another section of the country would enforce business prostration throughout the land as surely as night follows day. "We are all tossed by the same waves," he cautioned them.

The comment upon the speech, as to how it would be received in the insurgent district and particularly in this agricultural state was too varied to allow of any conclusion. Mr. Taft was not applauded very much, but the crowd gave him the closest attention.

His address was a clear effort to point the way "down the middle of the road."

The president advocated progress in the movement to prevent the abuses of monopoly and undue advantage, but declared that the time had come to call a halt in hostility to business and mere prosperity or success. He asserted that generally the laws now enacted were sufficient to assure the correction of those evils and counseled only helpful legislation for the future. At the same time he emphasized his determination to enforce those laws.

The attorney general, he said, was acting under his orders in the prosecution of the trusts and had no discretion whatever to stay the hand of the government and so long as such combinations existed they would be prosecuted under the law.

Mr. Taft spoke to audiences in eight Iowa towns. In most of his speeches he discussed his tariff vetoes and he dwelt several times upon the promise that he would recommend such tariff revision to congress within three months as would conform to the demands of the Iowa Republican state platform for a scientific revised tariff. He said that when he did this he wanted the people of Iowa to support him and that if he did not do it they could punish him as they saw fit.

Senator Cummins, the insurgent Iowa senator, was conspicuously absent from the delegation of state officials who welcomed the president to Iowa.

CHILDREN OF INDIGENT

PARENTS TO GET ALLOWANCE

Among the mass of legislation enacted at the last session there is one bill which seems to have escaped general notice, which is to the effect that indigent parents of children within school age may draw a maximum of $6 per week from the cities of the state, providing they send their children to school and their claim is proved by the probate judge or the judge of the juvenile court. It is to be paid out of the general fund of the board of education upon proper recommendations.

NOTICE.

Hereafter no person shall, himself, or by another, post, attach, place, paint or stamp any placard, show bill, or advertisement of any description whatever (except such as may be expressly authorized by law) on any street, fence, sidewalk, lamp-post, post, box, bridge, building, or any other public place or object in the city, (except on billboards expressly provided and used for such purpose). It shall be the duty of the marshal, deputy marshal and special deputy marshal of such city to see to the enforcement of this section, and to make complaint against any person violating the provisions thereof.

"OLD JOE" SATAGO DIES

Last Chief of Ojibway Indians Is Claimed at Home.

St. Ignace, Mich., Sept. 29.—Chief Joseph Satago, the last chief of the Ojibway tribe of Indians, died at the home of his son-in-law, Charles Lozon, six miles from this city, lacking only from now until New Year's of being 100 years old.

Chief Satago had not been ill, nor was there any reason to expect that death was near, and he passed away without a struggle. He was born in the settlement where he died and had always lived here. Many stories have been written of him and his life, and few are the tourists of the last two decades who have not made a pilgrimage to the old chief's home.

CONCERT COURSE FOR COMING YEAR TO BE GOOD ONE

The Normal Concert course which during the past few years has proved such a success promises this year to be better than ever before. The course will consist of eight numbers by noted artists who are favorably known throughout the country.

The first number will be given Oct. 17 will be rendered by Gertrude Rennison, the celebrated Wagnerian soprano, who has recently returned from Bayreuth, Germany, Nov. 21, the Detroit String Quartette will render a concert with Mme. Elsa Reuger, the Belgian cellist as soloist.

A Christmas Carol concert, similar to the one which proved so popular last year, will be given again this year. The Normal choir of 200 singers will present this number. Harold Bauer, one of the greatest European pianists appearing in this country will give a song recital Jan. 5. The fifth number will be given by the New York Symphony orchestra consisting of fifty men with Walter Damrosch as conductor. The Normal choir festival will be given May 14. The soloist for this occasion has not been definitely decided upon. The last two numbers in April and May will be given by the "Longy club" which is the wood-wind instruments of the Boston Symphony orchestra and the Senior Singing club. The unique and elegant character of the former organization will add another feature to the excellent course presented.

EUCARISTIC CONGRESS

Archbishop John Ireland of St. Paul Delivers the Sermon.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 29.—The fifth annual national eucharistic congress opened here with hundreds of priests and many of the dignitaries of the Roman Catholic church in America present. The congress will last through Sunday and each day will be marked by some solemn religion service.

The congress began when the bells of every Catholic church in Hamilton county rang out a gay chime. At the same time a procession of acolytes, priests and prelates formed at the pastoral residence in the rear of St. Peter's cathedral and filed into the edifice to the strains of Elgar's "Behold the High Priest Cometh."

A solemn pontifical high mass was sung by Archbishop Henry Moeller of the Cincinnati diocese, assisted by prominent local priests. Archbishop John Ireland of St. Paul delivered the sermon.

BODY OF GEORGE E. WHITMORE TO BE BROUGHT HERE FOR BURIAL

The body of George E. Whitmore whose death occurred at Cadmus on Wednesday morning, will be brought to the city for burial Saturday. Short services will be held at Starkweather chapel at 10 o'clock. Mr. Whitmore was formerly a resident of this city.

Breaks Parole; Back to Prison.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 29.—Moses Gleason, a paroled convict from Jackson, pleaded for his liberty in police court to prevent serving out a two years' unexpired term. He stole a bushel of oats and was held on the parole conditions. Although the judge suspended sentence the Jackson prison officials returned him to his old cell.

Acquitted of Attempted Murder.

Marshall, Mich., Sept. 29.—S. O. Poole, agent of the Owosso beet sugar company, was acquitted in the circuit court of the charge of attempted murder of A. J. Schmidt, of Sheridan township. Poole shot Schmidt during a dispute over beet deal, but the latter recovered. The jury concluded the act was not premeditated.

ARCHBISHOP IRELAND

St. Paul Prelate at Eucharistic Congress in Cincinnati, Ohio.

SEASON IS OPENED

FIRST MEETING OF ST. LUKE'S AUXILIARY HELD IN CHURCH HOUSE.

REV. GARDAM DELIVERS STRONG ADDRESS, GIVING LIFE OF CHASE FAMILY.

President Urges Greater Interest in Missionary Work for the Educational Value.

St. Luke's Auxiliary held its first meeting of the year at the church house Thursday.

The president in her opening address urged a greater amount of interest in missionary work, defining the work of the auxiliary as being different from other parish work, in that it was distinctly educational and very necessary to the larger work of the church. She pleaded for more love for the work, saying, "When there is love, there is the interest to do more."

Miss Alice Gilbert was appointed treasurer pro tem, Mrs. Worley not being able to attend.

It was decided to hold a rummage sale some time during October, date to be decided later. Mrs. George Brown was appointed chairman of committee having the sale in charge.

Rev. Wm. Gardam then gave a most eloquent address on the subject, "A Modern Hero—Philander Chase, First Bishop of Ohio and Illinois."

Mr. Gardam told in vivid language of the varied fortunes of the "Chase" family, tracing their genealogy from the 17th century when they left their home in Chesham, England, to the birth of Philander Chase who was the fifteenth son of Dudley Chase, likewise a fifteen son. The family settled in Newburyport, Conn. The future bishop met with an accident in his 14th year and on recovery was sent to Dartmouth college, where he acquired a literary education. Here he first saw an Episcopal prayer book and studying it decided to become a minister in that church. He journeyed to New York where he interviewed the rector of St. Peters and was warmly welcomed. He became a teacher and lay reader in the church and was ordained to the ministry in 1775. Preached for 30 years in many eastern cities.

His wife's health breaking down, he was transferred in 1805 to New Orleans where he was most successful.

FIRE DANGER POINTED OUT

Battle Creek Shows Where Law is Violated.

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 29.—Although Deputy Fire Marshal Henry A. Wolff, of the Michigan State Fire Preventive association, found conditions remarkably good in Battle Creek, he did not depart without informing each of the city's half dozen theaters that they did not meet the fire law in every respect.

Insufficiently guarded motion picture apparatus was the general defect, the theaters being well provided with exits and other precautions. Only thirty out of 230 merchants were informed that they must make changes.

DEPUTY HIPP MAKES GOOD POLICE CATCH

Eugene R. Baker, who so cleverly escaped from the Barry county officer Saturday afternoon when being taken on a D. J. & C. car to Hastings to answer to a charge of contempt of court, was captured by Deputy Sheriff Hipp in this city Thursday night about 4 o'clock. He was placed in the Ypsilanti jail till this morning when a deputy sheriff from Hastings arrived and took him back on the 8:25 train where he will await his trial.

The officers have been on the lookout for Baker since Saturday but he cautiously kept under cover until Thursday afternoon when he was seen by Deputy Sheriff Hipp who happened to be working at Arbeiter Grove. He was making his way on the outskirts of the city to the small

CANADA HAS ACCEPTED OUR TEACHING.

Some seem to have been greatly surprised to learn that Canada should turn down the Reciprocity Pact between our country and theirs. Numerous reasons have been assigned for the failure of the pact to receive the endorsement of the Canadian people. The newspapers controlled by Mr. Herst insist that it was killed through the corruption of the trusts of this country working in that. Others claim that Sir Wilfred Laurier had been losing prestige and that the people had tired of him and that religious prejudices aided in his downfall.

While it would seem that the premier of Canada acted the part of a politician instead of a statesman by hazarding this issue on the altar of his personal ambition to be returned to office, instead of passing it in the parliament where he controlled a majority, yet it seems to be indisputable that Canada has prospered under the administration of Mr. Laurier to a far greater extent than it has ever prospered under any other equal period of time.

It seems to us that the real cause of the failure of reciprocity in Canada is founded on sentiment probably, rather than fact. The Canadian people are in possession of a great empire and are facing toward a greater prosperity. They have builded their empire as America has builded its out of the rough—and they have had opportunity for it these many years along a four thousand-mile border line to hear us ring all the changes on the advantages of a protective tariff system, and, seeing us prosper under it, they very naturally reason that they could do likewise, and they have adopted the same policy; and, if our reasoning was right when we adopted ours, their reasoning cannot be far amiss in adopting theirs. We have said so many times that a new country without manufacturing establishments and sparsely populated and with a population of agriculturalists, rather than artisans, cannot hope to compete with an old densely populated country, the manufacturing facilities of which have long since reached the highest state of efficiency—without the aid of a protective tariff.

We have reached the point in our development approximating that which had been reached by Great Britain and continental Europe after we had severed our ties with Great Britain. Our manufacturing industries have now reached a high state of perfection. They are equipped with the best and most up-to-date machinery and the most skilled workmen obtainable. They have at their very doors the very best of transportation facilities. We have built great cities and have grown to more than 90,000,000. We are looking for larger markets, just as were Great Britain and continental Europe during our early history.

Canada is the most accessible and the most natural market for us. To be sure, we, on the other hand, would constitute her best market. But if she is to build her nation industrially, as we have built ours, she evidently believes that she must protect herself against us by the same walls which we erected to protect ourselves during our industrial development.

And so it would seem that the real reason for the defeat of reciprocity in Canada may be summed up in the sentiment expressed by Kipling during the campaign in these words: "I cannot understand how 9,000,000 people can enter into such arrangements as are proposed with 90,000,000 strangers on an open frontier of 4,000 miles and at the same time preserve their national integrity."

And there was another element which was largely emphasized in that campaign and which ought to cause us to ponder. The Canadians cited again and again the fact, as they believed it to be, that "our murder statistics and our commercial, legal, financial, social and ethical standards" were such as to suggest the peril to Canada of entering into any alliance with such an ungodly crew.

The defeat of reciprocity will undoubtedly operate as a blow to the possibilities, politically, of the president. The farmers, we believe, pretty generally feel that their interests were deliberately sacrificed in the framing of the pact. The laboring men crowding the cities were clamoring for lower-priced foodstuffs and seemed willing that the farmer should foot the bill. Now the pact is killed, prices are considerably up, with the outlook good for their going higher and remaining there; and they are naturally not very happy. And unless some decisive action is promptly taken to counteract the arbitrary control of foodstuffs and other family necessities by the trusts and some practical application of the principle which has been applied elsewhere of very greatly reducing the unconscionable proportion of the price paid by the consumer for food products, as compared with what is received by the producer, a regime of radical socialism is not very far behind the horizon.

For the Children

An Alligator's Nest In the Florida Everglades.

Contrary to the general belief, the wild alligator is still to be found in large numbers in the Everglades of Florida. Indeed, the surveying parties of the Florida East Coast railroad extension were more than once attacked by these ferocious beasts. It is seldom, however, that one discovers the nest of an alligator, but recently a naturalist photographer met with such luck as is shown by the accompanying illustration. There were twenty-three eggs in the nest, which is not a particularly large number, considering that these creatures often lay from thirty to sixty eggs in a single nest. They are similar in shape to an ordinary duck egg and about three inches in length.

Do It Now!

Did you ever know a boy or girl who had the habit of putting off until tomorrow that which could and should be done today? This same boy or girl believed it to be, that "our murder statistics and our commercial, legal, financial, social and ethical standards" were such as to suggest the peril to Canada of entering into any alliance with such an ungodly crew.

Suppose this boy should say to his hands, "I'm not going to use you now; you are too small, but in some years from now, when you are grown up and strong enough, I'll put you to good use." When he grew to be a man he would find his hands quite weak from lack of proper use in his youth and useless for work.

You need not wait until you are grown men and women to do the things worth doing. Do what little you can, and do it now, and you will find your hearts and souls and hands grow stronger for the things you will do later.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Dolls In Siam.

Have you ever seen a Siamese girl kiss her doll? Well, you wouldn't know she was kissing it if you were not told, for she kisses it in the same fashion that grownup Siamese kiss and that is by touching their noses and drawing in a long breath. It is really funny, particularly as the dolls, except the father and mother dolls, wear no more clothes than the children themselves. The fathers and mothers wear strips of cloth wound round the middle of their bodies, as the real people do. The dolls of the poor people are made of baked mud, but children of rich people have wooden dolls, which look much more like real dolls than the little mud figures.

Leapfrog Not Popular Any More. It is not strange that the old fashioned game of leapfrog has lost much of its popularity with city boys. The sport has been substituted by more active games, particularly baseball, and it is seldom that boys are seen "giving a back," as they used to do in days gone by. Occasionally they will be seen leaping over their comrades by straddling their legs wide apart, but whenever there is a chance to get to a baseball ground or to play "one o' cat" leapfrog is relegated.

Enjoyment of Keeping a Diary. No doubt many boys and girls now keep a diary. Others who do not will find a keen source of pleasure in recording the events of their daily life in this manner. A diary is really a personal history. It can be made both interesting and useful and furnishes splendid practice in writing and composition, as well as training in habits of persistency and accuracy, as a diary, if not faithfully and accurately kept, is useless.

Celebrating Birthdays.

Celebrating birthdays is one of the oldest customs in the world. How many of you know that our first record of it is in Pharaoh's time? The Pentateuch gives graphic accounts of birthday celebrations in honor of the great king.

The Great-Great-Greats. The portraits of my great-great-greats

Hang on the parlor wall,

And why I am afraid of them

I do not know at all.

They're never cross, they never scold,

They never frown at me,

They do not lift a finger when

I'm naughty as can be.

And one old great he loves to smile

Down on me while I play,

Although his collar's high enough

To choke the smile away.

I suppose the reason that I feel

So creepy and so queer

Must be the way they stare at me

Whenever I am near.

For I can't be on the sofa

Or the floor or any place

That the great-great-greats' big, searching eyes

Aren't always on my face!

—Youth's Companion.

Couldn't Understand It.

A farmer's wife became insane, and to a friend who tried to console him, the farmer exclaimed: "I can't understand what caused her to go crazy. I hope I'll be struck dead if I ain't telling you the truth when I tell you that she ain't been out of the kitchen a day in 20 years."

Waste of Good Money.

Some American manufacturers send catalogues in English to China, but they cannot be read and the goods advertised in them would not be bought even if they were printed in Chinese, as the Chinese do not buy that way.

Seven Months of Artificial Light In the Home

Sight is one of the most precious possessions of men, women and CHILDREN.

During seven months of the year, most of the close application of eyesight in your home is by artificial light.

Is the artificial light in your home good or bad?

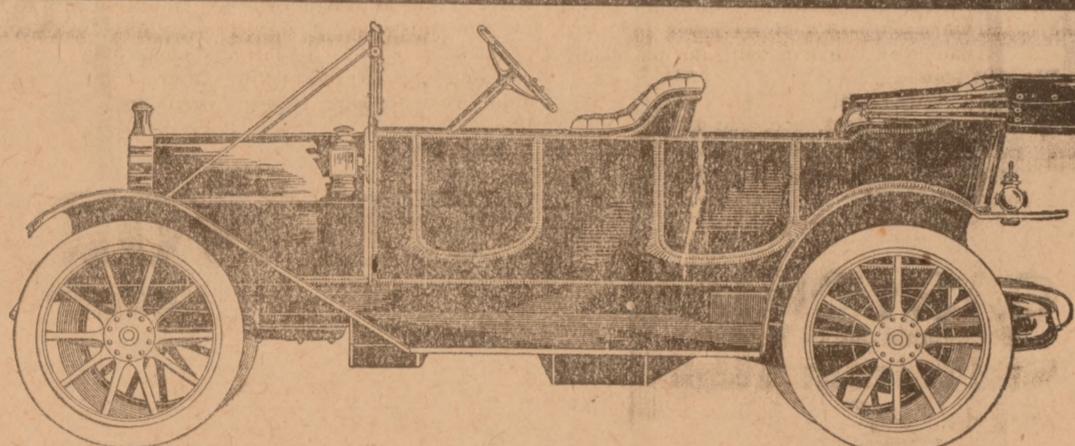

Before the long evenings come when the family gathers near the LIGHT—look into this matter carefully.

ELECTRIC LIGHT is the best light in the home. It is economical and it is far more convenient than any other form of lighting.

Insurance companies rank electric light the safest.

Better have an estimate made for house wiring. Telephone No. 1.

Why So Many Farmers Are Buying The Cartercar

There are many good reasons why the Cartercar is being universally accepted by farmers as the ideal car for their purposes.

It is simplicity itself—even a boy can operate and care for the Cartercar without injuring it in the least.

This wonderful simplicity combined with extra strong working parts insure absolute reliability. The Cartercar is ready all the time—day or night—for the signal to go.

The Cartercar is powerful—by that is meant that it will climb almost any hill, even a 50 per cent grade, and will go through very bad, muddy or sandy roads. The farmer can drive his Cartercar out in stubble fields or pastures, across brooks, and he knows that his car will always go right along.

The remarkable pulling power of the Cartercar is because of the efficient friction transmission. This is merely a friction disc which runs against a fibre-faced wheel—the relative position regulating the speed of the car. There is no crashing of gears—the speed being changed easily and noiselessly. The Cartercar driver has any number of speeds and THEY ARE ALL CONTROLLED BY ONE LEVER.

The Cartercar will speed along brushing everything on the road—or will creep along behind a flock of sheep or drove of cattle, never crowding or rushing them.

This wonderfully easy control makes the Cartercar ideal for the ladies to drive. The few parts make it very easy for them to learn to operate it—and prevents them getting injured.

The easy control is supplemented by very strong brakes. In addition to these regular brakes the driver also has the friction reverse, which makes it the safest car on the market today. The friction reverse is only available on friction driven cars.

Another excellent feature of the Cartercar is the Chain-In-Off-Drive. The chain runs continually in a heavy oil—and the chain case being grit and sand tight, practically all wear on the chain is prevented.

The elegance and remarkably attractive appearance of the Cartercar also make a very strong appeal to the farmer. A glance at the above cut will convince you of its beauty. The extra heavy upholstering on the seats makes it almost an impossibility for a person to tire while riding in the Cartercar.

Think over these facts we have given and see if they answer the requirements you would make of an automobile. We know that when you understand the Cartercar you will be as enthusiastic as we are.

Let us send you complete information regarding this ideal car for the country man.

A PERSONAL INVITATION TO YOU, MR. FARMER

I want to personally invite every reader of this advertisement to visit me here at the Detroit Branch of the Cartercar Company, and I will be very glad to explain carefully every detail of the Cartercar construction.

I met thousands of farmers at the State Fair and after I had shown them the Cartercar an astonishingly large number of them went home with cars.

Write me when you will arrive and I will meet you at the Interurban or railway station with a Cartercar, and show you over the city, giving you an opportunity to study the qualities of the car in the most practical manner.

When you write tell me the style of car you are interested in and I will have that car at the station for you.

STRONG ENTERTAINERS EMPLOYED FOR NORMAL 1912 LECTURE COURSES

The Normal Lecture Course again offers to the citizens and students in Ypsilanti a rare opportunity for education and entertainment. The course this year includes some of the most brilliant orators on the platform at the present and the fact that the course is given in a hall provided without charge by the state makes it possible to offer this splendid course at a very low price. No student can afford to neglect the great opportunity for general culture that comes from attending such a course of lectures and entertainments as this.

The first number will be a lecture by a man of national reputation as a brilliant orator, Governor Frank Hanly, of Indiana. The following clipping from the Record of Philadelphia, Pa., is only one of hundreds which show how he carries his audiences by storm:

"Governor Hanly last night stirred to boundless enthusiasm an audience numbering thirty-five hundred, in the Academy of Music. Expressive in every word and gesture, his voice thrilling with the intensity of his emotion, resounded throughout the big auditorium. He fairly carried his audience with him in his oratorical flights, evoking peal after peal of thunderous applause. At times he was compelled to pause several minutes while the tumult ran its length and the audience voiced its approval"—Record, Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr. William A. Colledge, who will give the second lecture on the course, was until 1909 Professor of English Language and Literature in Armour Institute when his great success upon the platform impelled him to give up teaching so as to devote his entire time to the lyceum work. Dr. Colledge is well equipped for the lecture work. He is a man of wide experience and wide sympathies. He is the author of "Interpretative Studies of Scottish Authors" and "The Beginnings of the Modern Drama." He was also the first editor of the Technical World magazine and was editor-in-chief of the New Standard Encyclopedia put out by the University Association of New York. But Dr. Colledge is more than a mere book man. He spent three years with Henry M. Stanley. Fought against the Arabs and hunted almost all over Africa. He is a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society.

When he spoke in the people's course at the Lyceum theatre in Detroit the following comment appeared in the Detroit Free Press:

"An immense audience, many of whom were obliged to stand, greeted Dr. Colledge at his lecture on the People's course at the Lyceum theatre last evening. Dr. Colledge is a fluent and graphic speaker, and in the clear and forcible picture he presented of the great prophet of Islam the vast audience was spell-bound from the opening to the close of his address."

Miss Margaret Stahl is a reader who has won a high position as a reader of the modern drama. The Springfield Republican says her reading of "The Servant in the House," proved her the greatest reader of plays that has ever appeared in this city.

Several years ago Bishop Hughes delivered the commencement address for the Normal College in this city and gave one of the most inspiring and brilliant speeches ever heard in Normal Hall. Ever since then the lecture committee has been endeavoring to secure him but were unsuccessful until this year. His lecture will be the fourth number on the course. Bishop Hughes has but little time to devote to the lecture platform and when he does lecture he stands in the first rank in his power to please an audience. Those who heard him when he was here before will advertise him for the lecture this winter.

Mr. Blair who was a newspaper man for a quarter of a century speaks of "The Whir of the Printing Press and What it Says." Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis thought so highly of this lecture that he has had it given twice in Plymouth church. He writes:

"Mr. Blair speaks with authority on these subjects, for he has been a newspaper man for more than a quarter of a century. His rhetoric, as well as his keen insight, are nicely illustrated in another quotation from his lecture which we give herewith:

"What is a newspaper?" asked Mr. Blair, and then he answered it by saying: "Put the accent in the first syllable of the word and you have a flashlight definition. It is a vehicle for the conveyance of information about current events. It is (to change the figure) a literature that is born in a day, and so far as public interest is concerned perishes in a day. It is history written by hundreds of thousands of pens, driven by amateurs, by professionals; by novices, by veterans; by cobblers, by experts; by mediocrities, by geniuses; by fakirs, by truth-tellers; by the man with the wolf of famine at the door, by the gentleman with plutocratic leisure; by the mental bum, by the intellectual emperor. In the newspaper, idiots, full of sound and fury, and arm-locked with slobbering rhetoric, tell their tale by the side of the philosophical Platos and the gifted Macaulays. No experience, no degree of capacity, no variety of

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

A SIMPLE REMEDY BRINGS BACK THE NATURAL COLOR—DANDRUFF QUICKLY REMOVED.

How often one hears the expression, "She is gray and beginning to look old." It is true that gray hair usually denotes age and is always associated with age. You never hear one referred to as having gray hair and looking young.

The hair is generally the index of age. If your hair is gray, you can't blame your friends for referring to you as looking old. You can't retain a youthful appearance, if you allow your hair to grow gray. Many persons of middle age jeopardize their future simply by allowing the gray hair to become manifest. If your hair has become faded or gray, try Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation which a chemist by the name of Wyeth devised a few years ago. It is simple, inexpensive and practical, and will banish the gray hairs in a few days. It is also guaranteed to remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

It is a pleasant dressing for the hair, and after using it a few days itching and dryness of the scalp entirely disappear.

Don't neglect your hair. Start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur today, and you will be surprised at the quick results.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agent, Weimann-Matthews Co., 118 Congress street.
